Czech M10M Gas Mask Manual

After Cold War it was replaced in Czech by M90. The exhale system is different, having a metal housing with the exhale pointing directly outwards. Instead of the M17 style exhale, where the valve is covered by rubber and forced out through the bottom of the housing. The filter openings are larger and threaded. The head harness varies as the M10 head harness is made of a thicker grey elastic fabric with a rubber head pad and large rubber pull tabs. The M17s outserts have been found to fit with M10, but are noticeably smaller, and the filters are not interchangeable between the masks. Due to the different inhale sizes, and cap attachments. The M10 mask was used by both Czechoslovakia and East Germany. And remains in use today by the Czech Republic. They made a Strichtarn and a rubberized version. The mask can be found around the internet for low prices. The inhale valves that are placed into the sides of the mask onto the filter. Note Though these gas masks and filters may function as intended, they have likely exceeded their expiration dates and should be used at your own risk. But dont worry, weve found a similar item thats ready to ship now. Extra filters were factory sealed ones, but I cannot attest to what you will receive. The cheek filters take a bit of skill to get in place properly. Came with the drinking straw that attaches to the US military canteens with the gas mask cap. I tested the straw and it works. Good flow for drinking. The included bag is a rubber coated cloth. Not as sturdy as I like but still works. Came with two sets of filters that are out of date so I wouldnt trust it for anything other than cs gas. Upon inspection one set was leaking charcoal out so I had to dispose of the set but the second was fine. The straps are cloth and dont pull my hair. Even with a 2 week beard it still sealed on my face. This is a great collector item or for protecting from dust cheaper than most dust respirators but it is NOT for NBC use. Nobody makes new filters for this mask. But for what I use it for its great I got one of these for Christmas and liked so much that I bought two more. A few things I wanted to mention about these is that as stated in the product description that they may function as intended. Well, for starters mine did. The fibreglass filters, although expired worked in mine. It does protect against fumes from household chemicals and from dust particles. If you are in need of a good respirator but, you dont have the money to get an overpriced 3M one. These will do great. One thing to keep in mind is that all of the components fit like a glove. If one thing is out of place you will not get a good seal and may not get the desired function of the mask. So, if you buy one check on you tube on how to properly assemble it. If you see someone assembling it with filters on the outside, they are putting them on wrong. The filters go inside the mask. The filters are cheap too. <http://www.rencontres-icare.org/userfiles/brother-fax-255-user-manual.xml>

Get a bunch of them while they are still available. Once they are gone they're gone forever. Hope this clarifies some things. After cleaning it inside and out I put it together and the seals are all good, definitely being put in the spot light of my office! The filters are mylar packaged, and still have a good vacuum seal, and the date is stamped 1988, so it's not a 1960s product as some people have said. These masks should be adequate protection from dust storms, riot gas, volcanic ash, and a certain amount of radioactive particle fallout the larger pieces only. Far better than a bandana or typical facemask that leaves the eyes unprotected. Good to have around. The filters are difficult to install, but they keep a very tight seal. Get over it, whiners. When I opened it the mask and accessories drinking straw adapter, outlets, filter valves all came wrapped in plastic bags that were sealed. The outlets are a pain to put on due to the fact that you cannot pull the rubber inside out on the outlet like the M40 or M17. The filters are a pain to put in too. The filter system in my opinion is inferior to 40mm NATO. The drinking straw on the mask is compatible with its own canteen cap, the US Military Canteen Cap, and the Russian NBC canteen. I would not use this mask for NBC reasons due to its age and the age of the filters. You cannot buy in date filters anymore, and some of the filters do not come vacuum sealed. But the mask and the filters would work fine for riot agents and other Nonlethal things. The mask's build quality is very good compared to Russian masks. Russian masks are notorious for being cheap to make. The rubber is comfortable and the straps are nice elastic with a leather-like thing holding all the straps to the back of your head. These masks are very big compared to other NATO and Warsaw Pact masks. Overall this mask is nice, but it would be better if you could buy in date filters for it.

I would not bet on them for use with serious NBC agents only owing to their age NOT for practical reasons I can perceive. They seal just fine. Many great setup videos are available on Youtube as well. The only drawback, a minor one, is that the carrier bags are of inferior quality compared to the masks but NOS carriers that would work come up for sale quite often I opted to give them with some UK bags and they presented VERY well in nicer bags looking as good as any current issue masks until you check the dates of manufacture. I highly recommend these! I love that that it comes with lens protectors and extra filters. The bag is cheap material but is big enough to carry an extra mask and water proof. If you have a big head go for this one. I would bump these up to my Army M17 mask in a heartbeat. This Mask is Quality from GetGo. I ordered 3 extra pair of filters for them, just because. At any rate, they clear pretty much same way as the M17 and fit great if you take time to adjust to fit. But seal was really excellent. I am still stunned that they are this affordable for what they are. Yup, I highly recommend you load up your bugout bags with some of these masks. Every mask I had to wear had rubber straps that would pull the crap out of your hair. Support straps are as previously posted cloth however, they appear to function in an adequate manner. Cheek filters are a pain just like my old M17. Obtaining a seal and clearing procedures are very similar to the M17. Are the filters functional. I cant honestly answer that since I dont have any CS to test them with. Overall a great buy and conversation piece. These things are in awesome condition though the elastic straps seem a little dry. The filters really are a nightmare to install so dont count on this thing in an immediate crisis scenario. But for 12 bucks its an awesome backup.

I purchased this one for doing my large scale insulation work at home as most respirators sold in hardware stores dont come with built in goggles, until I pulled it out of the package and found its in much better shape and more comfortable. So, I think as this one came with the canteen attachment for the drinking straw, and an extra pair of filters. Im upgrading this one as my emergency mask and using the other for house work. Also, the lens protectors were attached to the mask upon arrival with a carry bag that is tops. Pros Very affordable, Very comfortable, mine came with extra filters. Comes with canteen attachment for straw, excellent carry bag, lens covers came installed, all items were in sealed bags upon arrival. Cons None really so far more of a comment. it took me maybe 7 minutes with my first mask to install the filters, and about 4 minutes with this mask. It can be a bit of a bummer to install them, the difference was the stiffness of the rubber and the ability to stretch it far enough to slip the filter in place. Cleaning the internal portions of all the factory residue and grit was tasking, just use a warm wash cloth with a dab of dish soap. The mask is also very comfortable, the straps arent rubber instead they are cloth so they feel very nice. You cant remove the original lenses without damaging the mask. I found the canteen adapter useless since the drinking tube also works with us canteens with gas seal lids. If you place your order Monday Friday by 200 PM EST using one of our express shipping options, your order will be processed and shipped the same day it is placed! And the Republic of Guadalupe. You can also drink from this one to prevent having to take the mask off and expose yourself to toxins. Seals properly and works for CS gas.

Definitely trust this item and would recommend to anyone thinking of purchasing a mask Giving for Christmas gifts. Thank you, G.P. Without the filters, I cant smell anything outside of the mask, whereas my Israeli mask, I COULD smell everything outside of the mask. Back on topic, the gas mask is really sturdy and it doesnt feel like it would tear easily, which is good. The straps that hold it on your head are a bit of a pain, but once you break the mask in a little bit they work flawlessly. I would definitely recommend this mask to a friend. I got 2 of them out of the BOGO sale, both with their own bags, filters, and lens cover thingies. Now wearing the mask Its comfortable, great visibility, and Ive been told that I can be heard easily when I talk, so thats always good as well. I dont know if the filters are good to breathe through, but assuming by the other reviews, they should be fine. They come in these little bags of their own. Vision is not great if you wear glasses, as I do, but they do come with spare lenses. The drinking tubes are useless unless you have the proprietary Czech canteen, and Ive since read that the filters are out of date and may not function properly. After struggling to assemble these, I decided to stick to the Israeli masks. Lighter in weight, a piece of cake to assemble, new filters readily available, and the drinking tube works with any container. This mask was discontinued in the 80s so the filters are no good anymore and you cant buy new ones. If you buy the mask with the drinking tube youll need the special Czech canteen that goes with it or it wont do you much good either. I dont know for sure how much if any this mask will help but it has to be better than nothing at all. I would love to test it out in a gas chamber with some tear gas. Well Rounded And It Fits To Whatever Size HeadAdult Keep In Mind This Is NOT The Mask With The Drinking Tube.Shipping was fast and reliable.

The filters are kind of difficult to put in but once they're in it works great! Filters are hard to insert so I put filters in and put mask into vacuum-sealed bag for rapid deployment. Bought one for everyone in immediate family. After the attack on Syria I'm glad I did even more so now. I'm not a prepper but I am getting SOME STUFF together JUST IN CASE. However, I'll be putting them through a military pass test. Checks the seal and filters. If that works, I'll be taking it into a gas chamber. Keep you guys posted. The filters are very hard to put in and if you do it too forcefully you could tear the mask. The masks are massive however and don't fit well there just too big. I got one for my wife and I and she can almost fit her whole head in the mask. So if you're a teen or have a small head they simply won't work. I have a lot of leakage around the forehead and am still trying to find a way to fix it. All and all a nice mask at a good price, if you're lucky enough to have the right size face. The only complaint I have is that they do not include instructions but those can be found easily online. Breathing is easy a very minimal fogging up when exhaling. Mine are put together, spare filters and lenses in zip locks and chemical suit and gloves fit into the bottom portion carrying pouch. I like the product and would recommend it. If you place your order Monday-Friday by 200 PM EST using one of our express shipping options, your order will be processed and shipped the same day it is placed! This collectible mask is a definite conversation piece. Each mask comes with the original filters, goggles and a rubberized carrying bag. Each rubber mask offers full-face coverage with dual eyepieces for a superior view and adjustable elastic cinch straps. Order today, while supplies last!!! This collectible mask is a definite conversation piece. Order today, while supplies last!!! But don't worry, we've found a similar item that's ready to ship now. But now I must admit, it is a very nice product.

I was going to leave everything sealed up, but my curiosity got the better of me, glad it did. It does take a little work to get the filters in properly. But now I have my wife's and mine set up and ready to go. They fit perfectly, the field of vision is excellent!! I will have no trouble shooting a gun or my bow with it on. I did not know it came with 2 sets of filters and eye lenses, BONUS!! I am ordering more filters to have on hand. I am also ordering another one to use in my shop. I have tested it with smoke from an outdoor fire pit, paint fumes in my shop, brake cleaner. That's just the first day. Bag shows wear from storage but has never been issued. I purchased 2 of these masks, and the bags differ very slightly one is dated 1990, the other 1887 and the filters differed slightly in appearance, although function is the same. Very fast shipping as always. Takes about 10-15 minutes to assemble masks no instructions provided and can be done using common sense. Masks also come with spare filters. Great fit, assemble before you need them and make sure the seal is tight by covering filters with your hands and inhaling should not be able to breathe at all so you are ready at a moment's notice. I will be buying more. Thanks as always BUDK! It fits great, has very good visibility and love how low profile everything is compared to most masks that have big bulky filters sticking out. Would definitely recommend this to anyone looking for a good gas mask. I know i plan on getting several more before they run out or raise the price I like it for the low facial profile. No big cans hanging of the front. Hope it is effective if need be! Even though I originally bought this for a joke present I am happy to say that it is of the highest quality. I believe it would be effect protection in most situations. Only problem would be long term, if you had to change filters in a CBRN NBC type invironment you would be dead or hurting, but for as long as the filters last its great.

If you are preping for a long term NBC CBRN event i would go with an external filter mask OR buy 2, so you could change the filter on one while wearing the other. Mine came with drinking tubs and canteen adapters for them, an unexpected plus. Also ordered extra filters. Not sure which was replacement and which original but one set of filters came sealed in foil, the other in an airtight plastic bag. Both masks went together as designed. Kind of a pain, but vets experienced with the old M17 style masks with cheek filters will find it very similar. Emailed customer service, hopefully they can send one to me without returning the mask for an exchange, will update when I know. Great masks Best shipping of any company i have ever bought from this is my first purchase from true swords and will not be the last. I am now a customer for life or until i go broke. Then everyone at work started to purchase them. Good price for a very good item. I started wearing it around the collage dorm and around the campus, I love how people look at me its awesome. Great buy, I would definitely buy it over again!!!! So far it stood up to a face full of chlorine gas for 2 minutes straight and it still works. No residual smells, problems breathing, and I am confident in saying it would survive serious stuff like nuclear or viral attacks. Also got maced with it on 2 just to check the eye seals. Carrying bag was not rubberized, it was a tough tarp like material. Like a military duffel bag material. Glad for that though. And it shows caps for the filters when they are in, and i didnt get those. Also, i got no replacement goggles. Had the goggles already installed though. Filters were a pain, and they were in air tight plastic, not foil. Turned out to be a good product, just expected what the picture shows, but wasnt let down. BudK 4 Life!! It was a average difficulty to put the filters in but once that was done everything worked very nicely.

I use it when Im cleaning or doing outdoor work it helps me not get junk in my eyes and i tested it with a smoker and i could breathe completely fine the whole time. It may be a bit bulky but with the free bag it fits and stores easily pretty much anywhere. I have another gas mask but now i can keep it in my emergency kit because this new mask is surely my first choice. But somehow the problem fixed itself. I purchased a set of spare filters, noticed around the air intake, there is a ring of rust colored residue on it. Other than that, Fits like a glove, dont see any future problems with it, Very happy with purchase. Quality seems decent. They were brand new. One came with drinking tube the other didnt. The one with the drinking tube had a white chalky type powder stuff on it. There was no manual, I just guessed that the extra eye pieces went over top of the existing ones. The filters I received are brand new in the foil package, I hope what a couple people on here said is not true about them possibly being toxic if they are old, that would suck. The picture shows some rubber plugs that didnt come with either of mine. Over all a decent product, Hope I never really need it. However, I was pleasantly surprised. The design definitely looks cool, though it is very complicated to install and replace the filters. Im not entirely sure how effective it is, as I have not yet tested it. But the BUDK video CLAIMS it protects against biological and nuclear attacks. So Ill just take their word for it. For the price, I think its an amazing deal. DEFINITELY a good conversation piece. Gas masks NBC filters, APX.808, Nuclear, Biological and Chemical NBC 1 Mar 2009 17 Jul 2014 11 Aug 2010 I just bought some om 10 gas masks from cheaper than dirt does anyone know if these would. Everything I wrote is out of the manual. And the The M10 was one of many Eastern European clones of the M17 mask, and was drinking tube wrapped around the assembly with a rubber flap folding over it. Share That mask is not adaptable to external filters supposedly. Please help improve this article by adding citations to reliable sources. Unsourced material may be challenged and removed.Filter elements in the face piece prevent harmful agents from entering the mask. The M17 series includes three types of masks, the M17, M17A1 and M17A2. An experimental transparentsilicone model called the XM27 was designed in late 1966, but was turned down in favor of the XM28E4. Many countries have copied the M17 design. Notable copies include the Bulgarian PDE1, Japanese Type3, the Polish Mp4 and the Czech OM10 or M10M.

Three varieties of outserts were available for the mask; clear for general operations, gray tinted for bright environments, and green tinted to protect the wearer from battlefield lasers. It also contains a M1 waterproof bag to protect filter elements from water damage. Other components attached are mask hoods to protect the head and neck area, a winterization kit to prevent frost accumulation during cold weather conditions and optical inserts for soldiers with vision defects. The M17A1 was designed with intent to allow a masked soldier to provide artificial respiration to an unmasked casualty, the resuscitation tube was a noble idea gone wrong. The problem with it being the exposure of both soldiers to contamination, the soldier giving aid ran the risk of encountering resistance from the airway of the casualty, pushing air back into his mask and breaking the seal on it. The casualty would remain unmasked, and would continue absorbing the contaminated environment. It was for this reason that the resuscitation tube system was no longer issued for the A1 and was dropped on the M17A2. The US armed forces henceforth returned to traditional designs of mask where filter canisters are mounted externally and thus can be changed if needed without the wearer having to remove the mask. It is recommended that users continue wearing it until the biological or chemical agent is identified and verified cleared from the area using standardized unmasking procedures.
